Masks and Roses: A Phantom of the Opera Novel By Hannah R. Young

Prince Erik Delose of Britain was used to the female population dismissing him due to the mask he wore. Throughout his entire life, he'd known that he was betrothed to Christine Daae, a French princess. When Christine arrived in Britain, Erik was unsure how to act around her, as he'd never spent much time in the company of a female.

Christine, being a woman thrown into a completely unknown situation, resents him at the beginning of their relationship. But several events, including injuries and pushy women, bring these two souls together, creating a bond that withstands the tests of time and circumstances.

Dislike turns to love in this spin-off on the world's most amazing love story.

All characters appearing in this work are fictitious. Any resemblance to real persons, living or dead, is purely coincidental.
