Guardian By Sierra Riley

“I won’t get hurt again.”

“He probably has women falling at his feet.”

Attorney Alexander Wilson lies to himself. He’s not in the closet. He’s happy alone. He could come out to his work colleagues any time. Until then it’s one nerd and his Corgi, his string of failed relationships, and his collection of Space Shuttle toys. So when he’s hired by a tattooed, musclebound mechanic, it’s just as well that Conflict of Interest prevents him getting involved.

“A guy like him wouldn’t spend time with a guy like me.”

Mechanic Titus Edwards walked away from a promising Army career. As a former EOD expert he’s faced tougher environments than Flushing, Queens, but never a tougher job: raising his eight year old niece. When her biological father crawls out of the woodwork, Titus needs an attorney if he’s to protect her. But he’s not expecting to find himself drawn to Alex. After all, Alex is a guy. And Titus isn’t gay.

“We’re wasting time on a fairytale.”

Both men are haunted by pasts they would rather forget. But if they are to forge a future together they’re going to need to overcome more than their individual hurts. Can they learn to trust themselves and each other before it’s too late?

Guardian is a steamy, standalone gay romance novel with a HEA and no cliffhangers.

The knowledge you get based on what kind of reserve you read, if you want attract knowledge just go with schooling books but if you want feel happy read one with theme for entertaining like comic or novel. The Guardian is kind of guide which is giving the reader unforeseen experience.

Evelyn Rogers:

As a student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library or even make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's internal or real their leisure activity. They just do what the instructor want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring in addition to can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Guardian can make you sense more interested to read.
